Website ownership /Protection

The presentation of the website and all the elements specific to CCR contained within (in particular the texts, plans, publications, images, photographs, graphic and cartographic material) are the property of CCR or of a third party explicitly authorised to use and they are protected by the French Intellectual Property Code and international copyright treaties.

Any reproduction, representation, use, provision or modification of the website content on any medium or by any process whatsoever, in whole or in part, is prohibited unless prior written authorisation has been obtained from CCR by writing to the Head of Publication. Failure to comply may carry civil and criminal penalties.

By way of derogation, the reproduction of elements of the site for strictly personal and private use is authorised. However, it is strictly forbidden to use or to reproduce the Caisse Centrale de Réassurance name or the CCR trademark for any purpose whatsoever without prior written authorisation from CCR which may be obtained by writing to the Head of Publication.

Website content

The information contained on this website is provided by CCR for information purposes only and has no contractual value. This information may be modified, corrected, updated or deleted at any point in whole or in part at any time without prior notification from CCR.

CCR declines all responsibility for any direct or indirect damage whatsoever in connection with the website, irrespective of the cause or nature as a result of :

- Any imprecision or inaccuracy of the information
- Use of the information by a website visitor or third party – this is their sole responsibility.
- Access, difficulties or impossibility to access the website

Data Protection

CCR processes personal data for legitimate purposes. The personal data of the individuals concerned is collected directly by CCR or is communicated to CCR by entities with which we have a relationship in the context of our activities.

The data collected in this processing is intended for the CCR departments concerned and, where applicable, its sub-contractors and other service providers. It is kept for as long as is necessary for the purposes for which it was processed.

These persons have:

- A right of access and a right to rectification, a right to erasure, a right to object, a right to restrict processing and a right to data portability in relation to all personal data concerning them which may be exercised, along with a copy of an identity document, by post to the Data Protection Officer at CCR (157 boulevard Haussmann, 75008, Paris) or by e-mail to the following address: droit.daces@ccr.fr
- And, where applicable, the right to complain to the CNIL ('French Data Protection Agency') if after exercising their rights with CCR, they consider their rights to have been violated.

Hypertext links

Any hypertext link to the website must have prior written authorisation from CCR, which may be obtained by writing to the Head of Publication. CCR may not be held liable for the presence of a hypertext link, even if authorised, to its site.

Any hypertext links to external sites appearing on the website are provided for information purposes only and CCR cannot be held liable.

Contact

For any information relating to the website and the conditions of use, please contact Rose-Marie TUNIER: CCR, 157 boulevard Haussmann, 75008, Paris.

Applicable law – jurisdiction

Our website is subject to French law, irrespective of where it is used.

In the absence of an amicable solution, any dispute or litigation relating to this site will be covered by the exclusive jurisdiction of the Courts of Paris.

Acceptance of the conditions of use

Visitors to the website acknowledge that they have read this legal notice at the time of their connection and declare that they accept it unreservedly.

The visitor undertakes not to carry out any operation that could harm the proper functioning of the site, the integrity of the information contained on the site or the image and reputation of CCR.
